

US WOMEN'S CAUCUS AT THE UN

Strategic Priorities Midterm Report June 14, 2023

The US Women's Caucus held two strategic planning sessions on June 8 and June 28, 2022 that set forth a set of Strategic Priorities for the June 2022-June 2024 timeframe. This report discusses progress towards those Strategic Priorities as of June 2023, the midpoint in the two-year plan.

I. Updated Mission Statement and Narrative Description

Through our collective discussions in June 2022, we devised a new Mission Statement:
"US feminists collaborating to advance human rights and gender equity for women and girls worldwide"

We deployed this Mission Statement on our website, letterhead, and other communications. As part of our discussions, we developed a new Narrative Description of the Caucus, placed on the home page of our website (uswomenscaucus.org)

II. Strengthening our alliance to include more US NGOs

A key priority for our alliance is to broaden our base of organizational supporters. As of June 2022, we had 12 organizational members.

Seven had ECOSOC consultative status with ECOSOC:

- Sociologists for Women in Society (SWS)
- Women's Intercultural Network (WIN)
- Federation of American Women's Clubs Overseas (FAWCO)
- Women Graduates-USA
- WomenNC
- Zonta International

International Women's Anthropology Conference (IWAC)

Five more organizations were part of the US Women's Caucus in June 2022:

- National Women's Political Caucus (NWPC)
- Women's Equality Coalition of Greater Kansas City
- STEM Institute
- Education for Social Justice Foundation (ESJF)
- Women's UN Report Network (WUNRN)

Since the June 2022 Strategic Planning meetings, five more organizations have joined:

ECOSOC consultative status:

- American Association of University Women (AAUW)
- Congregation of Our Lady of Charity of the Good Shepherd

Others

- American Medical Women's Association (AMWA)
- Bozeman City for CEDAW Task Force
- Grace Initiative Global

One of our 2022 members was granted consultative status in 2023, Education for Social Justice Foundation, bringing the total number of ECOSOC organizations in the Caucus to 10.

As part of our efforts to strengthen our alliance, the US Women's Caucus has applied for ECOSOC consultative status itself as of June 1, 2023.

III. Developing feminist positions on CSW themes

Another key priority for our Caucus is to develop and disseminate feminist perspectives on the annual CSW themes. We carried out this priority in several ways:

- A. We developed a timeline for CSW activities to keep us on track (attached).
- B. Our Briefs Committee composed seven briefs on the CSW 67 theme, gender and technology, and summarized our positions in a two-page advocacy statement. We disseminated these materials as follows:
 1. Posted on our website (<https://www.uswomenscaucus.org/un-csw/csw-67-2023/>)
 2. Circulated to our members and other NGO caucuses and organizations
 3. Promoted them in online meetings with NGOs, US officials, and UN personnel
 4. Sent them in hard copy to the following US officials:
 - Amb. Linda Thomas-Greenfield, US Ambassador to the United Nations
 - Amb. Lisa Carty, US Ambassador to ECOSOC
 - Director Jenn Klein, White House Gender Policy Council
 - Senior Official Katrina Fotovat, State Dept. Office of Global Women's Issues
 - Amb. Melanne Vermeer, Georgetown Institute for Women, Peace, and Security
 - Senior Human Rights and Health Advisor Sofija Korac, US Mission
 5. Ambassador Lisa Carty responded with a letter expressing appreciation for our views (attached).
- C. We developed 6 Fast Facts flyers, graphic presentations of our data on gender and technology, and disseminated them via tweets and other means, including posting them on our website (<https://www.uswomenscaucus.org/un-csw/csw-67-2023/>).
- D. We presented two feminist events at CSW 67 in March 2023
 1. "The US and Civil Society at the UN CSW: The Back Story" March 9, 2023
This event was held in person at St. Bartholomew's Church, New York with speaker Dr. Susan O'Malley, chair of NGO CSW/NY 2015-2019.
 2. "The Gender Digital Divide in the US: Problems, Promises, and Progress" Mar 14, 2023
This event was held online as part of the CSW NGO Forum with three speakers Kristina Ishmael, Deputy Director, Office of Educational Technology
US Department of Education
Dr. Carmela Roybal, Research Professor and Executive Director,
Native American Budget and Policy Institute, University of New Mexico
Dr. Bethlehem Gronneberg, Software Engineer, Founder and CEO, uCodeGirl

IV. Influencing US executive branch on CSW themes

An important priority for the US Women's Caucus is to convey our feminist views to the US administration, especially on the CSW themes. To that end, we undertook the following activities:

- A. We strengthened our relationship with US Mission personnel, especially Sofija Korac, the US gender negotiator at the CSW.
- B. We researched who's who at the US State Department, especially in the Office of Global Women's Issues and the Bureau of International Organization Affairs.
- C. We contacted the US Dep't of Education and recruited a CSW 67 speaker from the Office of Educational Technology.
- D. We created a Caucus advocacy team to engage with the Agreed Conclusions negotiations.
 1. The team reviewed the CSW 67 Zero Draft and subsequent revisions and communicated our suggested language to US personnel and to the chair and vice-chairs of the UN CSW Bureau.

2. US Women's Caucus officers were invited to participate in three Virtual Vienna Cafés with the UN CSW Bureau and other CSW ambassadors.
3. The advocacy team met with a former US Mission staffer in Jan 2023 to learn about effective CSW advocacy.

V. Identifying Congressional allies

Another strategic priority for the US Women's Caucus is to develop our relationship with members of the US Congress in order to educate them about the CSW and influence

- A. We advocated for the Senate confirmation of Dr. Geeta Rao Gupta, the Biden-Harris Administration nominee for US Ambassador-at-Large for Global Women's Issues. We contacted US Senators, including a phone call with the staff of Senator Jeanne Shaheen, the only female member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, to encourage them to vote for Dr. Gupta's confirmation. After being passed over in 2021 and 2022, Dr. Gupta was finally confirmed on May 10, 2023 in a party-line vote with two Republicans voting in favor (Sen. Collins and Sen. Murkowski).
- B. We sent letters in April 2023 to members of the Congressional ERA Caucus thanking them for forming the ERA Caucus and asking them to support prompt affirmation of the ERA as the 28th Amendment to the Constitution. We sent letters to the following members:
 - Rep. Cori Bush (D-MO), co-chair
 - Rep. Ayanna Pressley (D-MA), co-chair
 - Rep. Madeleine Dean (D-PA)
 - Rep. Lois Frankel (D-FL)
 - Rep. Summer Lee (D-PA)
 - Rep. Jennifer McClellan (D-VA)
 - Rep. Delia Ramirez (D-IL)
 - Rep. Jamie Raskin (D-MD)
 - Rep. Abigail Spanberger (D-VA)

VI. Collaborating with feminist groups at home and abroad

We joined with other feminist activists to promote the human rights of women and girls around the world.

- A. We sent tweets in support of Afghan women protestors, the expulsion of Iran from the CSW, abortion rights, the ERA, and CEDAW. Follow us on Twitter (@uswomenscaucus)
- B. We nominated Caucus Board member Shaila Rao Mistry to the Core Group of the Europe-North America Caucus and she was elected.
- C. President Susan Lee presented a talk in Dec 2022 at Women's Intercultural Network's Women's Equality Day celebration on religious perspectives on abortion rights.
- D. We signed a petition by the Iranian Women Life Freedom movement on removing Iran from the CSW.
- E. We invited NGO CSW/NY chair Houry Geudelekian to speak to us in Feb 2023 on NGO relationships with the United Nations.

UNITED STATES REPRESENTATIVE
ON THE UNITED NATIONS ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL

799 UNITED NATIONS PLAZA
NEW YORK, N.Y. 10017-3505

December 8, 2022

Hello Susan,

Thank you for very much for your letter and sharing your briefs and policy recommendations to address gender inequality. We share many of the concerns you raise, from technology to health to violence against women. We must stand up for women and girls in every walk of life to advance their economic prosperity, health, human rights, and overall livelihood.

Achieving gender equality around the world is a priority for both Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield and myself. From the Commission on the Status of Women to numerous General Assembly resolutions on this issue, the United States has been adamant about putting women's rights at the forefront of the conversation. In reviewing your caucus's CSW 67 statement and series of briefs, it is clear we are both committed to fighting for the advancement of rights of women and girls in all their diversity.

We look forward to welcoming you to our annual consultation ahead of the Commission on the Status of Women in the early part of 2023.

Very best regards,
